SCORE VICTIMS OF HEAT AND STORMS HUGE CO-OPERATIVE GRAIN SYSTEM PLANNED

COMMITTEE OF FARM BUREAU SIFTS OFFER

Involves Transfer of Five Large Board of Trade Firms' Property

MERGER SAID GIGANTIC

Committee of Farm Bureau Is Named in Effort to Work Out Proposal

BEFORE BUREAU

Quincy, Ill., June 21.—An official of the Illinois Agricultural Association, when shown a story from Chicago regarding the grain merger, said the plan is before the American Farm Bureau for future consideration and that he is unable to say whether it will be accepted in its present form or modified to meet circumstances.

He declares the plan in brief eventually proposes the complete control of marketing facilities by the growers and that it is hoped to begin with the 1924 crop.

The growers propose, he said, to obtain the "last word in efficiency" in grain marketing. The program is so huge, he explained, that it must necessarily remain in incomplete form for sometime.

Chicago, June 21.—A plan for grain farmers to own and control a huge system of elevators and grain facilities, now controlled by five large Board of Trade firms which would be merged in a cooperative association, today was in the hands of a committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, headed by O. E. Bradfute, president of the federation, and chairman of the committee.

The merger plan would involve about $25,000,000, it was said, representing the appraised value of the properties of five companies.

The plan was endorsed by George Marcy, president of the Armour Grain Company, who said he believed it would go through.

Although the firm of James A. Patten, known as the "wheat king" until he retired from operations on the Board of Trade, was mentioned in an announcement from the Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. Patten said he had no connection with the merger arrangement. He explained that his company leased its elevators from the Bartlett and Frazier states, which might be willing to sell the property at a good price, but nothing definite had been done toward their disposal.

The committee to examine the proposal for the new merger, appointed by the Farm Bureau Federation, was announced today as composed of the following: O. E. Bradfute, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, chairman of the committee; S. E. Hanson, Quincy, Ill.; Frank Evans, Salt Lake City; G. F. Reed, vice-president of the federation; St. Paul; and Murray D. Lincoln of Columbus, O.

Chicago, June 21.—A detailed plan under which five large grain concerns and 5,000 cooperative elevators would come under producer control was formally submitted to the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Under the plan cooperative grain marketing organizations eventually would be accorded the trading privileges of the Chicago Board of Trade.

The corporation resulting from the consolidation under the proposed plan would become "grower owned, financed and controlled."

The plan as submitted to the Farm Bureau Federation contemplates acquiring the mechanical and managerial facilities of the following firms:

Armour Grain Company, Rosenbaum Grain Corporation, Bartlett Frazier & Company, Rosenbaum Brothers Grain Corporation, and the J. C. Shaffer & Company.

The proposal contemplates using the facilities of existing exchanges and operating in accordance with their established rules, says the announcement of the Farm Bureau.

The statement does not reveal by whom the plan was submitted.

U.S. AIRPLANE IS DAMAGED

Rangoon, British India, June 21.—A cargo boat last night collided with one of the United States Army Around-the-World airplanes, seriously damaging the wing. It is hoped, however, that repairs can be made by Monday, when the aviators expect to leave for Calcutta, via Akyad and Bassein.

WOULD GUARD MAIL TRAINS WITH MARINES

Chief Inspector Announces Recommendation for Chicago District

Chicago, June 21.—The arrest last night of Ernest Fontano, indicted with nine others on charges of participation in the $2,000,000 registered mail robbery of a mail train near here on June 12 narrowed the search today to Max Greenberg, alleged "master mind," Sam Grant, and Blackie Wilcox, escaped from a Texas prison.

Chief postoffice inspector Rush Simmons, who came here yesterday to direct the government's investigation of the robbery, said he would recommend that armed guards, probably marines, be again assigned to travel with registered mail in the Chicago district.

MT. EVEREST UNCONQUERED

Two Lose Lives in Endeavor To Scale It

London, June 21.—Mount Everest, the great irregular cone in the Himalayas, whose peak constitutes the outermost point on the earth's crust, is still unconquered.

The third expedition of intrepid climbers, like its predecessors, has failed, two of the explorers perishing in the final effort.

While the disaster occurred probably a fortnight ago the full details have not yet come through. Brief dispatches received by Sir Francis Younghusband, president of the Royal Geographical Society, however, indicated that the two victims, George Leigh Mallory, and A. V. Irvine succumbed when the climbers were caught by a monsoon. Everest peak is 29,002 feet above sea level.

BALL PARK IS NOT NUISANCE

The supreme court today affirmed the decision of District Judge Lowe of Ward county that a base ball park is not necessarily a nuisance.

The case was appealed by C. D. Riffey, O. P. Nustad and M. Lemmons, who brought action against Ira Rush and the Minot baseball club to prevent occupancy of a new park. Judge Lowe held that the park of itself was not a nuisance, but it might later become one. The supreme court affirmed his decision.

GET-TOGETHER DAY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

400 Register From Out of Town; 50 Babies Entered in Clinics

With over 400 out of town people registered for the day's events, Bismarck's Get-Together day is proving a big success. Free movie shows were provided for all people registering, and at 3 p. m. street stunts, a peanut wrestle, chicken hunt, death defying hunt from the tallest building in town, and other thrills, provided entertainment for both young and old. Many more came in but had not registered at 2 p. m.

At the baby clinic, over fifty babies were entered, and received an examination by Dr. A. M. Brandt, assisted by nurses from both the St. Alexius and Bismarck hospitals. The schedule prepared by the American Medical Association was used for seeing the babies, and because of the large amount of data involved, no announcement of prize winning babies can be made for several days. There will be three prizes for the best three boys and three for the three best girls.

The Masonic Temple was used as headquarters, and for the baby clinic. A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce, was in charge of the general registration.

During the afternoon, the Bismarck Juvenile band played, performing in a manner surprisingly mature. Tonight all visitors and citizens of Bismarck are invited to attend the nuptial dance, at which the S. S. President Madison band will play.

COMPANY "A" RETURNS TODAY

Coming Back From Guard Camp at Devils Lake

Company "A," Bismarck National Guard, has broken camp in Devils Lake and will be back in Bismarck at 9 o'clock tonight on a special train over the Northern Pacific.

The Quartermaster Detachment is coming in by motor truck, the time not certain.

More than 1,200 guardsmen have been encamped at Devils Lake for the last two weeks, receiving instruction under regular army officers. In spite of some showers, generally good weather has prevailed.

COUPLE HELD FOR OFFICERS AT JAMESTOWN

Death of Baby, Scalded When a Still Explodes, Is Being Investigated

Minneapolis, June 21.—Frank and Cora Funk, declared wanted by authorities of Stutsman county, North Dakota, on a charge of manslaughter, involving death of their baby daughter, scalded to death when a still exploded, were ordered held by District Judge Salmen when he discharged a writ of habeas corpus seeking their release.

The couple was arrested on direction of Chief of Police Brunskill on request of Dakota authorities, as the aftermath of the accident on May 10 when the baby was scalded at Jamestown.

After the discharge of the writ the couple was remanded to jail on a fugitive warrant to await extradition action. The case was formally continued to July 7, and bail fixed at $3,000 each.

A requisition for the return to Jamestown of the pair was prepared in the Governor's office here, on request of Jamestown authorities, charging the pair with the death of the child. The papers were forwarded to Governor Nestor for signature, and he is expected to issue the requisition from Minn. where he is today.

DR. GRANT TO QUIT CHURCH

Resigns Pastorate in New York Church

New York, June 21. The resignation of the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant from the pastorate of the Church of the Ascension, continued as the leading topic of discussion among church circles today. Dr. Grant, who has served his congregation for 31 years, gave his length of service and illness as reasons for his resignation. It was "accepted with regret" by the vestry.

Dr. Grant's controversy with Bishop Manning, because of the former's modernist tendencies, has for several years made him the center of a heated theological warfare.

DICKINSON IS BUILDING UP AFTER STORM

Business Men and Farmers Promptly Set About Repairing Their Losses

DEATH TOLL IS NINE

No Additional Deaths Reported From Country After Phone Lines Are Opened

Dickinson, N. D., June 21.—With the virtual restoration of rural telephone lines, the toll of Dickinson's storm all day Wednesday afternoon still stood at eight today, with two deaths in Dickinson and others outside the city, and one drowning during a storm near Bismarck increased the toll to nine.

No additional deaths were reported since yesterday. Meanwhile business men and farmers in Dickinson area and other sections were busy making plans for resuming of normal business and checking the damage.

All trains and communication have been practically established again in other sections of the state, which were struck by a series of rain, wind and electrical storms.

Loss Is Detailed
Loss in the tornado which struck Dickinson and vicinity Wednesday is estimated by the Recorder-Post of that city at half a million dollars.

Among the losses listed by the newspaper are:
Henry Cuskay farm buildings blown over, smashed.
Experimental station buildings damaged and electric wind mill blown down.

Farm buildings of John P. Berringer, east of the city, were practically all destroyed, including the barn which was leveled to the foundation.

In the city the property loss extended mostly to torn roofs and broken windows. Hundreds of chimneys and private garages were blown down, and some of the finest old shade trees were uprooted.

The Nazarene church loss is heavy, the foundation crumbling away on one side. Some of the material can be salvaged.

Dr. S. Chernauek reported lightning struck a power wire and entered into his X-ray apparatus and burned out some high priced instruments.

The entire tin roof of the Elks building was blown off and some of the bricks forming the cornice were blown down. The Patridge Grocery lost a large window. Rain came through the roof of this building and did considerable damage to the ceiling and stage on the third story.

The Dickinson Grocery Company lost heavily when part of its warehouse was blown in on top of its building. The old C. N. freight office was damaged when part of the roof was blown away.

Tent Blown Away
The opening performances of the 1924 chautauque had gotten under way when the storm struck. A large crowd was in attendance but no one was seriously injured when the tent came down. Falling tent poles bruised some people, and many were drenched.

When the storm struck all power and light wires were disconnected at the power house. Falling trees and other obstacles buried by the wind and broken poles demolished the service in the residence section until Thursday afternoon. Service on the white way and business places in the Villard street was resumed the same night.

The only building on the Stark county fairgrounds not damaged is the brick pump house. The buildings are insured.

The Walton and Davis lumber shed in which two men lost their lives, was wrecked.

Three workmen of the Russell-Miller Milling Company were inside the company's water tank when the storm came. They expected the tank to be blown over, it being swayed considerably, but it held up. The wind tore off the tin on the roof of the company's elevator.

William Brown reported that he was left on his farm was part of the house. All other buildings were completely wrecked and wagons were tipped over and piled up and twisted beyond repair. He had 150 chickens and only found 23 after the storm.

Louis Brodman, south of South Heart, reported that his farm buildings were wiped out. His buildings were demolished and his farm machinery piled up and badly twisted. Some cattle also were killed.

Two Killed
The two men killed in the lumber shed were Joseph Friedt and Joseph Froelich. The Recorder-Post says the men were near the shed when the storm came up. Friedt was a drayman and Froelich a farmer. It

KU KLUX FIGHT MAY COME OUT ON THE FLOOR

Looms as One of Most Bitter Issues at the Democratic Convention

SMITH, McADOO BUSY

They Still Occupy the Limelight in the Pre-Convention Activities

New York, June 21, (By the A. P.)—Redoubled efforts to strengthen their position today occupied the camp of William G. McAdoo and Governor Alfred E. Smith as the Democratic national committee went into session to complete final arrangements for the opening of the national convention at Madison Square garden next Tuesday. The fight between the Smith and McAdoo forces easily was the dominating feature of the closing day of the pre-convention fight, but other issues, particularly that of the Ku Klux Klan, also held prominent places in the discussion among the assembling delegates.

An increasing demand from George E. Brennan of Illinois and leaders from other states that the platform declare specifically for the Klan added to the difficulty of the platform builders who already were divided on that point.

Predictions that the Klan issue would find its way to the floor of the convention for a final decision were made today in several quarters. There also were those who regarded it as possible that the prohibition question would be taken to the floor, but the "dry," confident of a strong expression in the platform for law enforcement, were concentrating their fight against "wet" candidates.

Both McAdoo and Smith held frequent conferences today with delegates and leaders from the number of states. Confidence radiated from both headquarters but the strategy boards on each side were busy with their preparation and organizations were being perfected and enlarged.

Although McAdoo-Smith contest overshadowed their activities, other supporters of candidates for the presidency and "dark horses" were far from idle. Workers were here and there about the hotels pressing their claims against favorites on incoming delegations.

Meanwhile the platform builders resumed their own work and hoped to reach at least tentative agreement on a number of less controversial planks. The main questions to be dealt with were fairly well agreed upon, but there remained a difference of opinion as to the language and broadness of expression to be employed in the framing of others.

Whether the department has uncovered some semblance of price maintenance arrangements was not stated. Mention was made by Mr. Stone in a formal statement, however, that part of the department's inquiry has been directed toward determining whether the several Standard Oil Companies had obeyed the federal court dissolution decree of 1911.

The attorney general is understood to have been informed by some of his subordinates that in part, at least, the decree had not been fully obeyed, but there is not entire agreement among the lawyers who have studied this phase of the price problem, and further information may be required.

To Make Results Public
When the department completes its preparatory study of the gasoline situation, it expects to be able to lay before the public a complete picture of the oil industry in this country from production through refining and distribution. Part of this information may be gathered by the federal trade commission but the contents of the commission's report will not be known until after the July conference with state attorneys general.

LAST RALLY HERE TUESDAY

Shafer Will Speak in Bismarck Auditorium

The last political rally in Bismarck before the campaign closes will be Tuesday night, June 24, at the city Auditorium, it is announced. Attorney-General George Shafer, who has been speaking in various parts of the state, will be the independent Republican speaker. A band concert will precede the meeting at the Auditorium.

Last night at Baldwin, a political meeting was held Julius Meyers, a candidate for State Senator, spoke first, followed by P. G. Harrington, candidate for State Senator. Other speakers included B. E. Jones, Judge E. T. Burke, Mrs. Robinson Moser, and Mr. Zeller of McKenzie. The meeting was largely attended.

SENATOR AND DOCTOR CLASH ON FASHIONABLE GOLF CLUB COURSE

Washington, June 21.—Investigation into the encounter between Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and Dr. James F. Mitchell, on the Chevy Chase Golf links will be undertaken by the board of directors of the club Monday, it was announced.

Alexander Britten, president of the club, has requested and received versions of the incident from both Senator Robinson and Dr. Mitchell, it was said.

Senator Walsh of Montana, Kendrick of Wyoming, and Jones of New Mexico, who were with Senator Robinson will be asked to give statements of the affair, as will Colonel Edward Clifford, former assistant secretary of the treasury and his son, who accompanied Dr. Mitchell.

The clash was brief and in its course, Dr. Mitchell was struck once and fell to the ground.

Those who took the part of Senator Robinson said the trouble occurred after the Mitchell party had been held up from coming through the clubhouse on the 12th hole, on which the senatorial foursome was playing. At that time Senator Walsh was searching for a lost ball. A member of the Mitchell party, it was said, called for permission to pass through, and it was granted. On the way to the next tee, it was added, some sharp words were passed on the subject of golf etiquette.

When the 13th tee was reached, the feeling had progressed to such an extent that the two men came to blows.

FORECAST FOR THE NEXT WEEK

Washington, June 21.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday: Region of Great Lakes and Upper Mississippi; partly cloudy, occasional showers, temperatures near normal most of the week.

U.S. MAY TAKE 'GAS' PROBE TO TEST IN COURT

Attorney-General Stone Indicates Plan to go to Bottom of Situation

INQUIRIES INSTITUTED

Results of Federal Trade Commission Probe Is in Hands of Coolidge

Washington, June 21.—The government's intention to go to the bottom of the whole gasoline price situation, probably through the courts, was indicated by Attorney General Stone.

Inquiries instituted by the federal trade commission and the department of justice are to form the basis of the proceedings. Results of the commission's study of the price question made at the request of President Coolidge, are in the hands of the department of justice and Mr. Stone announced that he had directed members of his staff to collect data gathered by department investigators with that obtained by the trade commission.

As the next step Mr. Stone will hold a conference early in July with attorneys general of certain states, whose identity is withheld for the present. After the conference, which Mr. Stone said would provide a comprehensive survey of the whole situation, the department of justice will make known the character of proceedings it intends to employ.

Price Fixing Problem
Whether the department has uncovered some semblance of price maintenance arrangements was not stated. Mention was made by Mr. Stone in a formal statement, however, that part of the department's inquiry has been directed toward determining whether the several Standard Oil Companies had obeyed the federal court dissolution decree of 1911.

IOWA FARMER CHOOSES N. D.

A farmer recently moved to North Dakota from Boone, Iowa, has applied for rent of a half-section of cultivated school land near Brantford, Edmon County, on which the contract was cancelled by the state board of university and school lands. He informed the board he wanted to plant mainly corn, potatoes, and alfalfa, and on this representation the board rented him the land at the minimum rental this year, for summer following, and next year he will pay 75 cents per acre for the land.

He informed the board he owns two farms in Iowa with relatives, but has decided to begin farming in North Dakota.

Eight Prostrations in Chicago Alone Reported—Violent Storms in Racine

Chicago, June 21.—Another heat wave, a re-developed of the one just broken, and followed by storms which took toll of more than a score of lives, will overpass the middle states, reaching as far north as South Dakota and Minnesota, Henry Todd, district forecast, announced today. With the temperature still rising from 65 at 5 a. m. to 75 at 10 a. m., a temperature of at least 90 degrees was probable for tomorrow, the weather man said.

There may be some storms attendant on the heat.

Chicago, June 21.—More than a score of deaths and property damage estimated at upwards of $3,000,000 is the result in three states of the hot wave and the storm which yesterday swept through the Mississippi and Ohio valleys bringing lower temperatures.

Five deaths from the storm in northern Illinois were added to the heat fatalities of other states.

Eight persons were reported prostrated by the heat in Chicago, and 15 persons were said bitten by heat crazed dogs.

With 17 deaths reported due to heat in Ohio relief was afforded by a violent wind storm which swept several sections.

The greatest damage of the storm occurred in Racine county, Wisconsin, where a half-mile strip, 12 miles long was swept with estimated property loss of nearly $2,000,000. Telegraph lines were torn down and train service impaired.

San Francisco, June 21.—A portion of the heat wave which assessed a heavy death toll in the east, apparently struck the Pacific Coast yesterday.

Northern California experienced the warmest day thus far this year with temperatures of 100 degrees above zero in several cities.

HIKING CHEAP, ALSO SPEEDY

Two Boys Get Rides Most of The Way, They Find

Hiking is cheap and speedy nowadays, according to Peter Gevaert and Clarence Timm, two Milwaukee youths about 18 years of age, who stopped at the Bismarck tourist camp last night.

The boys left Milwaukee, Wisconsin, June 16, and arrived in Bismarck June 20, making remarkably fast time. They walked part of the way, but made speed because most of the way they rode in tourists' automobiles. They found people very friendly and willing to give them a lift most any time. They camped at night in tourist camps.

The boys left here this morning, going on toward Harlowtown, Montana, where they are to visit with relatives.

HUGE CO-OPERATIVE GRAIN SYSTEM PLANNED

COMMITTEE OF FARM BUREAU SIFTS OFFER

Involves Transfer of Five Large Board of Trade Firms' Property

MERGER SAID GIGANTIC

BEFORE BUREAU

Quincy, Ill., June 21.—An official of the Illinois Agricultural Association, when shown a story from Chicago regarding the grain merger, said the plan is before the American Farm Bureau for future consideration and that he is unable to say whether it will be accepted in its present form or modified to meet circumstances.

He declares the plan in brief eventually proposes the complete control of marketing facilities by the growers and that it is hoped to begin with the 1924 crop.

The growers propose, he said, to obtain the "last word in efficiency" in grain marketing. The plan is so huge, he explained, that it must necessarily remain in incomplete form for sometime.

Chicago, June 21.—A plan for grain farmers to own and control a huge system of elevators and grain facilities, now controlled by five large Board of Trade firms which would be merged in a cooperative association, today was in the hands of a committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, headed by O. E. Bradfute, president of the federation, and chairman of the committee.

The merger plan would involve about $25,000,000, it was said, representing the appraised value of the properties of five companies.

The plan was endorsed by George Marcy, president of the Armour Grain Company, who said he believed it would go through.

Although the firm of James A. Patten, known as the "wheat king" until he retired from operations on the Board of Trade, was mentioned in an announcement from the Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. Patten said he had no connection with the merger arrangement. He explained that his company leased its elevators from the Bartlett and Frazier states, which might be willing to sell the property at a good price, but nothing definite had been done toward their disposal.

The committee to examine the proposal for the new merger, appointed by the Farm Bureau Federation, was announced today as composed of the following: O. E. Bradfute, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, chairman of the committee; S. H. Thompson, Quincy, Ill.; Frank Evans, Salt Lake City; G. F. Reed, vice-president of the federation, St. Paul, and Murray D. Lincoln of Columbus, O.

Chicago, June 21.—A detailed plan under which five large grain concerns and 5,000 cooperative elevators would come under producer control was formally submitted to the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Under the plan cooperative grain marketing organizations eventually would be accorded the trading privileges of the Chicago Board of Trade.

The corporation resulting from the consolidation under the proposed plan would become "grower owned, financed and controlled."

The plan as submitted to the Farm Bureau Federation contemplates acquiring the mechanical and managerial facilities of the following firms:

Armour Grain Company, Rosenbaum Grain Corporation, Bartlett Frazier & Company, Rosenbaum Brothers Grain Corporation, and the J. C. Shaffer & Company.

The proposal contemplates using the facilities of existing exchanges and operating in accordance with their established rules, says the announcement of the Farm Bureau.

The statement does not reveal by whom the plan was submitted.

U. S. AIRPLANE IS DAMAGED

Rangoon, British India, June 21.—A cargo boat last night collided with one of the United States Army Around-the-World airplanes, seriously damaging the wing. It is hoped, however, that repairs can be made by Monday, when the aviators expect to leave for Calcutta, via Akyed and Bassein.

Chief Inspector Announces Recommendation for Chicago District

Chicago, June 21.—The arrest last night of Ernest Fontano, indicted with nine others on charges of participation in the $2,000,000 registered mail robbery of a mail train near here on June 12 narrowed the search today to Max Greenberg, alleged "master mind," Sam Grant, and Blackie Wilcox, escaped from a Texas prison.

Chief postoffice inspector Rush Simmons, who came here yesterday to direct the government's investigation of the robbery, said he would recommend that armed guards, probably marines, be again assigned to travel with registered mail in the Chicago district.

MT. EVEREST UNCONQUERED

Two Lose Lives in Endeavor To Scale It

London, June 21.—Mount Everest, the great irregular cone in the Himalayas, whose peak constitutes the outermost point on the earth's crust, is still unconquered.

The third expedition of intrepid climbers, like its predecessors, has failed, two of the explorers perishing in the final effort.

While the disaster occurred probably a fortnight ago the full details have not yet come through. Brief dispatches received by Sir Francis Younghusband, president of the Royal Geographical Society, however, indicated that the two victims, George Leigh Mallory, and A. V. Irvine succumbed when the climbers were caught by a monsoon. Everest peak is 29,002 feet above sea level.

BALL PARK IS NOT NUISANCE

The supreme court today affirmed the decision of District Judge Lowe of Ward county that a base ball park is not necessarily a nuisance.

The case was appealed by C. D. Riffey, O. P. Nustad and M. Lemmons, who brought action against Ira Rush and the Minot baseball club to prevent occupancy of a new park. Judge Lowe held that the park of itself was not a nuisance, but it might later become one. The supreme court affirmed his decision.

GET-TOGETHER DAY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

400 Register From Out of Town; 50 Babies Entered in Clinics

With over 400 out of town people registered for the day's events, Bismarck's Get-Together day is proving a big success. Free movie shows were provided for all people registering, and at 3 p. m. street stunts, a peanut wrestle, chicken hunt, dead defying hunt from the tallest building in town, and other thrills, provided entertainment for both young and old. Many more came in but had not registered at 2 p. m.

At the baby clinic, over fifty babies were entered, and received an examination by Dr. A. M. Brandt, assisted by nurses from both the St. Alexius and Bismarck hospitals. The schedule prepared by the American Medical Association was used for scoring the babies, and because of the large amount of data involved, no announcement of the prize winning babies can be made for several days. There will be three prizes for the best three boys and three for the three best girls.

The Masonic Temple was used as headquarters, both for general registration, and for the baby clinic. A. F. Bradley, secretary of the Association of Commerce, was in charge of the general registration.

During the afternoon, the Bismarck Juvenile band played, performing in a manner surprisingly mature. Tonight all visitors and citizens of Bismarck are invited to attend the pavement dance, at which the S. S. President Madison band will play.

COMPANY "A" RETURNS TODAY

Coming Back From Guard Camp at Devils Lake

Company "A," Bismarck National Guard, has broken camp in Devils Lake and will be back in Bismarck at 9 o'clock tonight on a special train over the Northern Pacific. The Quartermaster Detachment is coming in by motor truck, the time not certain.

More than 1,200 guardsmen have been camped at Devils Lake for the last two weeks, receiving instruction under regular army officers. In spite of some showers, generally good weather has prevailed.

The camp was declared highly successful by guard officers in Devils Lake.

COUPLE HELD FOR OFFICERS AT JAMESTOWN

Death of Baby, Scalded When a Still Explodes, Is Being Investigated

Minneapolis, June 21.—Frank and Cora Funk, declared wanted by authorities of Stutsman county, North Dakota, on a charge of manslaughter, involving death of their baby daughter, scalded to death when a still exploded, were ordered held by District Judge Salzman when he discharged a writ of habeas corpus seeking their release.

The couple was arrested on direction of Chief of Police Brunkill on request of Dakota authorities, as the aftermath of the accident on May 10 when the baby was scalded at Jamestown.

After the discharge of the writ the couple was remanded to jail on a fugitive warrant to await extradition action. The case was formally continued to July 7, and bail fixed at $3,000 each.

A requisition for the return to Jamestown of the pair was prepared in the Governor's office here, on request of Jamestown authorities, charging the pair with the death of the child. The papers were forwarded to Governor Nestos for signature, and he is expected to issue the requisition from Minot, where he is today.

DR. GRANT TO QUIT CHURCH

Resigns Pastorate in New York Church

New York, June 21.—The resignation of the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant from the rectory of the Church of Ascension, continued as the leading topic of discussion among church circles today. Dr. Grant, who has served his congregation for 31 years, gave his length of service and illness as reasons for his resignation. It was "accepted with regret" by the vestry.

Dr. Grant's controversy with Bishop Manning, because of the former's modernist tendencies, has for several years made him the center of a heated theological warfare.

DICKINSON IS BUILDING UP AFTER STORM

Business Men and Farmers Promptly Set About Repairing Their Losses

DEATH TOLL IS NINE

No Additional Deaths Reported From Country After Phone Lines Are Opened

Dickinson, N. D., June 21.—With the virtual restoration of rural telephone lines, the toll of Dickinson's tornado of Wednesday afternoon still stood at eight today, with two deaths in Dickinson and others outside the city, and one drowning during a storm near Bismarck increased the toll to nine.

No additional deaths were reported since yesterday.

Meanwhile business men and farmers in Dickinson area and other sections were busy making plans for resuming of normal business and checking the damage.

All trains and communication have been practically established again in other sections of the state, which were struck by a series of rain, wind and electrical storms.

Loss Is Detailed

Loss in the tornado which struck Dickinson and vicinity Wednesday is estimated by the Recorder-Post of that city at half a million dollars. Among the losses listed by the newspaper are:

Henry Cukky farm buildings blown over, smashed.

Experimental station buildings damaged and electric wind mill blown down.

Farm buildings of John P. Berringer, east of the city, were practically all destroyed, including the large barn which was leveled to the foundation.

In the city the property loss extended mostly to torn roofs and broken windows. Hundreds of chimneys and private garages were blown down, and some of the finest old shade trees were uprooted.

The Nazarene church loss is heavy, the foundation crumbling away on one side. Some of the material can be salvaged.

Dr. S. Chernauek reported lightning struck a power wire and entered into his X-ray apparatus and burned out some high priced instruments.

Tent Blown Away

The opening performances of the 1924 chautauqua had gotten under way when the storm struck. A large crowd was in attendance but no one was seriously injured when the tent came down. Falling tent poles bruised some people, and many were drenched.

When the storm struck all power and light wires were disconnected at the power house. Falling trees and other obstacles hurled by the wind and broken poles demolished the service in the residence section until Thursday afternoon. Service on the white way and business places on Villard street was resumed the same night.

Three Workmen of the Russell-Miller Milling Company

Three workmen of the Russell-Miller Milling Company were inside the company's water tank when the storm came. They expected the tank to be blown over, it being swayed considerably, but it held up. The wind tore off the tin on the roof of the company elevator.

William Brown reported all that was left on his farm was part of the house. All other buildings were completely wrecked and wagons were tipped over and piled up and twisted beyond repair. He had 150 chickens and only found 23 after the storm.

Louis Brodman, south of South Hart, reported that his farm buildings were wiped out. His buildings were demolished and his farm machinery piled up and badly twisted. Some cattle also was killed.

Two Killed

The two men killed in the lumber shed were Joseph Friedt and Joseph Froelich. The Recorder-Post says the men were near the shed when the storm came up. Friedt was a drayman and Froelich a farmer. It (Continued on page 2)

KU KLUX FIGHT MAY COME OUT ON THE FLOOR

Looms as One of Most Bitter Issues at the Democratic Convention

SMITH, McADOO BUSY

They Still Occupy the Limelight in the Pre-Convention Activities

New York, June 21, (By the A. P.)—Redoubled efforts to strengthen their position today occupied the camp of William G. McAdoo and Governor Alfred E. Smith as the Democratic national committee went into session to complete final arrangements for the opening of the national convention at Madison Square garden next Tuesday. The fight between the Smith and McAdoo forces easily was the dominating feature of the closing day of the pre-convention fight, but other issues, particularly that of the Ku Klux Klan, also held prominent places in the discussion among the assembling delegates.

An increasing demand from George E. Brennan of Illinois and leaders from other states that the platform declare specifically for the Klan added to the difficulty of the platform builders who already were divided on that point.

Predictions that the Klan issue would find its way to the floor of the convention for final decision were made today in several quarters. There also were those who regarded it as possible that the prohibition question would be taken to the floor, but the "drys," confident of a strong expression in the platform for law enforcement, were concentrating their fight against "wet" candidates.

Both McAdoo and Smith held frequent conferences today with delegates and leaders from a number of states. Confidence radiated from both headquarters but the strategy boards on each side were busy with their preparation and organizations were being perfected and enlarged.

Although McAdoo-Smith contest overshadowed their activities, other supporters of candidates for the presidency and "dark horses" were far from idle. Workers were here and there about the hotels pressing their claims against favorites on incoming delegations.

Meanwhile the "volunteer platform builders" resumed their own work and hoped to reach at least tentative agreement on a number of less controversial planks. The main questions to be dealt with were fairly well agreed upon, but there remained a difference of opinion as to the language and broadness of expression to be employed in the framing of others.

LAST RALLY HERE TUESDAY

U. S. MAY TAKE 'GAS' PROBE TO TEST IN COURT

Attorney-General Stone Indicates Plan to go to Bottom of Situation

INQUIRIES INSTITUTED

Results of Federal Trade Commission Probe Is in Hands of Coolidge

Washington, June 21.—The government's intention to go to the bottom of the whole gasoline price situation, probably through the courts, was indicated by Attorney General Stone.

Inquiries instituted by the federal trade commission and the department of justice are to form the basis of the proceedings. Results of the commission's study of the price question made at the request of President Coolidge, are in the hands of the department of justice and Mr. Stone announced that he had directed members of his staff to collect data gathered by department investigators with that obtained by the trade commission.

As the next step Mr. Stone will hold a conference early in July with attorneys general of certain states, whose identity is withheld for the present. After the conference, Mr. Stone said would provide a comprehensive survey of the whole situation, the department of justice will make known the character of proceedings it intends to employ.

Price Fixing Probed

Whether the department has uncovered some semblance of price maintenance arrangements was not stated. Mention was made by Mr. Stone in a formal statement, however, that part of the departments inquiry has been directed toward determining whether the several Standard Oil Companies had obeyed the federal court dissolution decree of 1911.

The attorney general is understood to have been informed by some of his subordinates that in part, at least, the decree had not been fully obeyed, but there is not an agreed statement among the lawyers who have studied this phase of the price problem, and further information may be required.

To Make Results Public

When the department completes its preliminary study of the gasoline situation it expects to be able to lay before the public a complete picture of the oil industry in this country from production through refining and distribution. Part of this information has been gathered by the federal trade commission but the contents of the commission's report will not be known until after the July conference with state attorneys general.

IOWA FARMER CHOOSES N. D.

A farmer recently moved to North Dakota from Boone, Iowa, has applied for rent of a half-section of cultivated school land near Brantford, the Edgely county on which the contract was cancelled by the state board of university and school lands. He informed the board he wanted to plant mainly corn, potatoes, and alfalfa, and on this representation the board rented him the land at the minimum rental this year, for summer following, and next year he will pay 75 cents per acre for the land. He informed the board he owns two farms in Iowa with relatives, but has decided to begin farming in North Dakota.

STORMS SWEEP OVER OHIO AND OTHER STATES

End Heat Wave But Causes Heavy Property Damage Through Middle West

MANY ARE PROSTRATED

Eight Prostrations in Chicago Alone Reported—Violent Storms in Racine

ANOTHER WAVE AHEAD

Chicago, June 21.—Another heat wave, a re-developed of the one just broken, and followed by storms which took toll of more than a score of lives, will overpread the middle states, reaching as far north as South Dakota and Minnesota, Henry Todd, district forecast, announced today. With the temperature still rising from 65 at 5 a. m. to 75 at 10 a. m., a temperature of at least 90 degrees was probable for tomorrow, the weather man said.

There may be some storms attendant on the heat.

Chicago, June 21.—More than a score of deaths and property damage estimated at upwards of $3,000,000 is the result in three states of the hot wave and the storm which yesterday swept through the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, bringing lower temperatures.

Five deaths from the storm in northern Illinois were added to the heat fatalities of other states.

Eight persons were reported prostrated by the heat in Chicago, and 15 persons were said bitten by heat crazed dogs.

With 17 deaths reported due to heat in Ohio, relief was afforded by a violent wind storm which swept several sections.

The greatest damage of the storm occurred in Racine county, Wisconsin, where a half-mile strip, 12 miles long was swept with estimated property loss of nearly $2,000,000. Telegraph lines were torn down and train service impaired.

CALIFORNIA FEELS IT

San Francisco, June 21.—A portion of the heat wave which assailed a heavy death toll in the east, apparently struck the Pacific Coast yesterday.

Northern California experienced the warmest day thus far this year with temperatures of 100 degrees above zero in several cities.

S. D. LOSS HEAVY

Two Boys Get Rides Most of The Way, They Find

Hiking is cheap and speedy nowadays, according to Peter Gevaert and Clarence Timm, two Milwaukee youths about 18 years of age, who stopped at the Bismarck tourist camp last night.

The boys left Milwaukee, Wisconsin, June 16, and arrived in Bismarck, June 20, making remarkably fast time. They walked part of the way, but made speed because most of the way they rode in tourists' automobiles. They found people very friendly and willing to give them a lift most any time. They camped at night in tourist camps.

The boys left here this morning, going on toward Harlowtown, Montana, where they are to visit with relatives.

Lead in the Week's Decline at That Market, Owing to Heavy Receipts

South St. Paul, June 21.—Receipts of lambs at several leading markets showed a substantial increase this week and with a much slower and almost demoralized market for the dressed products, live prices have suffered the sharpest of the year, says the weekly review of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The downturn for the week amounts to about $2.50 to $3.00 per hundred weight, fat, native, bulky lambs closing here at $12.50 with desirable grades trimmed lambs selling mostly at $13.25. Culls went to packers at $8.00. Others have held about steady, fat ewes going to packers from $3.00 to $5.00, with breeder and feeder buyers taking some at $3.50 to $5.25.

With corn belt feeders unloading beef steers and yearlings in liberal numbers these classes have sustained losses of 25 to 50 cents locally during the week.

Bulk of sales have been made at $7.00 to $9.00, with very good grade fed offerings in some areas at $8.25 to $9.50. Trade in fat sold stock is closing mostly 25 to 50c lower only dry lot kind escaping with small price cuts. Bulk of sales have been made at $3.50 to $5.00, with canners and cutters from $2.25 to $3.00. Bologna bulls $4.00 to $4.50 at the close. Packers purchased better grade of veal calves from $7.25 to $7.75 Friday.

Following recent price declines in stockers and feeders and improvement in condition of pastures, trade in this class has picked up during the week and demand especially for better grades has exceeded the supply. After an up and down week hogs are closing about steady, good light and butchers finishing at $6.85, packing sows $5.75 to $6.25, pigs $6.00.

Cattle receipts today were 200; hogs 1,000 and sheep 100.

Wheat Takes

Chicago, June 21.—Assertions that foreigners were reselling tended to turn wheat prices downward today after a little advance which followed the opening. Subsequently further weaknesses developed as a result of unloading on the part of numerous holders who were reluctant to leave risks open until Monday. The close was unsettled, 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c net lower, July $1.13 to 1/4c and September $1.14 to 1/4c.

THORESEN ALSO SPEAKS

Senator Lynn J. Frazier and T. H. Thoresen, Nonpartisan League candidate for Attorney-General, spoke in the Bismarck Auditorium last night, the former reciting his experiences in his first session of the federal Congress and Thoresen discussing the League state campaign. An audience of several hundred heard them.

Senator Frazier appeared in good health, somewhat more corpulent than when he left Bismarck and was in husky voice, because of riding and speaking considerably in the last few days.

Senator Frazier was introduced as presenting the progressive viewpoint on the recent session of Congress. One situation which appeared somewhat unusual to him was the fact that when a Senator began talking on certain subjects, often on farm relief, he would soon find himself talking to empty seats.

With regard to agricultural farm relief legislation, he said the Republicans were not alone to blame, the Democrats claimed, since there were enough radical senators to join with the Democrats at any time to put over a bill, and also that the Republicans had a majority any time they desired to do this. He quoted Senator Lodge as saying that most of the campaign money came from New York.

He said the Senate was composed of a fine bunch of gentlemen individually but collectively most of them represented Wall street. He declared that without doubt Wall street exercised a very big control in Washington.

Mr. Thoresen, discussing the general situation politically at the opening of his address, declared that "many think we have come to a crisis in the nation and possibly in the world." It seems, he said, that greed and avarice control the world. He mentioned the oil scandal in Washington, and declared it appeared we had a government "of special privilege, by special interests, for special interests." The form of the government is all right, he said, but the people do not control their government. He said "the man who controls the dollar controls the government if he desires."

Mr. Thoresen, discussing the state situation, declared the Nectus administration had not kept its promises, condemned the new tax laws, praised the business ability of A. G. Sorlie, whom he said had made a success of his own business and was reported to be worth from $200,000 to $500,000, and nevertheless, he declared, Mr. Sorlie stood solidly by the League program, had declared that he was a Leaguer and proud of it and would stand behind the League program.

The Star car has added another brilliant record. This last to blazon the Star cars honor roll is the world's non-stop endurance record.

This successful attempt to better the old record was started at 12:05 a. m. Feb. 23rd, at from of the Senate building in Atlanta, Georgia, with Sergeant Cole, a former officer in the Northwest Royal Mounted Police behind the wheel and was completed at 12:35 A. M. Feb. 28th, exactly one hundred and forty-four hours and twenty minutes later, thereby setting a new world's record.

This new record bettered the previous one of one hundred forty-four hours and twenty-five minutes made by daredevil Lockwood at Miami, Florida under ideal weather and road conditions by almost twenty hours. Chief of Police E. M. Haynes of Atlanta handcuffed Cole to his steering gear wheel. He then securely sealed the engine of the Star car. Day after day, night after night, for six days and nights Cole piloted his Star car through the crowded downtown streets of Atlanta and over rutted roads just outside of Knoxville, Tennessee, and averaged 17 miles per hour for the entire 2500 miles. His gasoline average was 25 miles to the gallon and 500 miles to the quart of oil.

WAR VET INJURED

Alvin Jirasek, 25 a world war veteran, who received a slight fracture at the base of the skull on Tuesday when he slipped and fell, he attempted to catch a freight train out of Jamestown, N. D., had spent the past year in Mandan taking vocational training under J. D. Allen, local taxidermist. He was reported as recovering nicely at the Trinity hospital in Jamestown where he was rushed for treatment.

Mr. Jirasek, according to Mr. Allen, was a member of the 68th infantry and was quite badly crippled, having been wounded on several occasions in engagements at the front. His home was in Minnesota and he was enroute to Minneapolis, where a sister resides. A brother formerly resided at Eldridge, N. D., according to information given by the young man to hospital attendants. He had "bummed" his way from Mandan to Jamestown and it was while attempting to catch a freight from that city east that the accident occurred.

Overland Coupe
Sedan Is Name

In January, 1923, Willys-Overland introduced to the motoring public a new type of body design on its Willys-Knight chassis.

The body, hailed as a decided innovation in motoring, being neither a coach nor sedan, also introduced a novelty in motor car nomenclature—the Coupe-Sedan.

Since then the popularity of both the unusual car and its name have been wide spread.

Desirous of capitalizing further on this distinctive trade name Willys-Overland announces that in future its Overland Champion will be known as the Overland Coupe-Sedan, inasmuch as it contains practically all of the characteristics of design and construction that distinguishes the Willys-Knight Coupe-Sedan, plus a market versatility that enables it to be put to a diversity of uses.

Ten per cent or more of the crops were handled by farm co-operatives last year.

It's what Oakland gives for $995 that counts

Many important features of the Oakland Six cannot be obtained in other cars in its class.

Bear these facts in mind in choosing a car:

Be sure that the engine in the car you choose incorporates the very latest design. Examine its construction closely.

Be sure you get the latest braking system. Four-wheel brakes are safer. Do not buy a car without this proved essential.

Ordinary body finishes are perishable and easily marred. Get the facts about Oakland's remarkable new finish.

Observe whether driving controls are convenient. Compare other cars with Oakland in this respect.

The tendency is toward a more substantial top for open cars. Examine cars with this point in mind.

Although disc steel wheels are admittedly superior, most builders in this class make you pay extra for them.

Consider the body design and workmanship of cars in this class. Are the bodies attractive and also substantial?

Here are the advantages Oakland offers:

1 { Oakland's engine is the last word in advanced design. Automotive engineers everywhere praise its construction.

2 { Every True Blue Oakland has four-wheel brakes at no added cost. They are sound in both principle and practice.

3 { Oakland alone, in its class, has a special new finish which will not check nor lose its lustre.

4 { Oakland's controls—all of them except gear shift—are on the steering wheel; an exclusive Oakland feature.

5 { Everyone likes Oakland's permanent top. Curtains fit better and special glass enclosures are furnished at low cost.

6 { All True Blue Oaklands have disc steel wheels at no extra cost. They are better looking and safer.

7 { Oakland's distinctive bodies—seven of them—are all Fisher-built. Everyone comments on their smart appearance.

Think these things over. The True Blue Oakland is built and priced to be the leading value in its field. You can easily verify this fact by careful comparisons.

Overland Coupe
Sedan Is Name

In January, 1923, Willys-Overland introduced to the motoring public a new type of body design on its Willys-Knight chassis.

The body, hailed as a decided innovation in motoring, being neither a coach nor sedan, also introduced a novelty in motor car nomenclature—the Coupe-Sedan.

Since then the popularity of both the unusual car and its name have been wide spread.

Desirous of capitalizing further on this distinctive trade name Willys-Overland announces that in future its Overland Champion will be known as the Overland Coupe-Sedan, inasmuch as it contains practically all of the characteristics of design and construction that distinguishes the Willys-Knight Coupe-Sedan, plus a market versatility that enables it to be put to a diversity of uses.

Ten per cent or more of the crops were handled by farm co-operatives last year.

It's what Oakland gives for $995 that counts

Many important features of the Oakland Six cannot be obtained in other cars in its class.

Bear these facts in mind in choosing a car:

Be sure that the engine in the car you choose incorporates the very latest design. Examine its construction closely.

Be sure you get the latest braking system. Four-wheel brakes are safer. Do not buy a car without this proved essential.

Ordinary body finishes are perishable and easily marred. Get the facts about Oakland's remarkable new finish.

Observe whether driving controls are convenient. Compare other cars with Oakland in this respect.

The tendency is toward a more substantial top for open cars. Examine cars with this point in mind.

Although disc steel wheels are admittedly superior, most builders in this class make you pay extra for them.

Consider the body design and workmanship of cars in this class. Are the bodies attractive and also substantial?

Here are the advantages
Oakland offers:

1 { Oakland's engine is the last word in advanced design. Automotive engineers everywhere praise its construction.

2 { Every True Blue Oakland has four-wheel brakes at no added cost. They are sound in both principle and practice.

3 { Oakland alone, in its class, has a special new finish which will not check nor lose its lustre.

4 { Oakland's controls—all of them except gear shift—are on the steering wheel; an exclusive Oakland feature.

5 { Everyone likes Oakland's permanent top. Curtains fit better and special glass enclosures are furnished at low cost.

6 { All True Blue Oaklands have disc steel wheels at no extra cost. They are better looking and safer.

7 { Oakland's distinctive bodies—seven of them—are all Fisher-built. Everyone comments on their smart appearance.

Think these things over. The True Blue Oakland is built and priced to be the leading value in its field. You can easily verify this fact by careful comparisons.

THAT TWO-THIRDS RULE

The forces of William Gibbs McAdoo, with the Democratic nomination ahead, are confronted by a stumbling block in the Democratic two-thirds rule. They find themselves in a most embarrassing position. For in going great lengths to have the rule changed to permit a majority of the delegates to nominate a candidate for the presidency, they are in danger of creating an uneasy feeling on the part of the delegates that here is a candidate who cannot command the unanimity necessary to insure the party of success. It always is bad strategy for a candidate to endeavor to alter procedure to win his own ends.

The Democratic two-thirds rule was made by one convention and might as well be changed by another convention. But if the impression goes out to the Democratic delegates that it is necessary to change the rule to permit Mr. McAdoo to become the candidate for the Presidency, it may not be changed—or another may be the beneficiary of it.

SHOWS OF TODAY

Theatrical producers think a man wants to go to a theater and check his brain with his hat, claims Vivian Kellems, lecturer.

Men, however, do not cut much of a figure in this problem. Theatrical productions usually depend for success or failure largely on women. Wives and sweethearts compose most of the matinee audiences, and men consult them for their choice of evening theatricals.

With the exception of sex plays, the standard of theatrical production is rising steadily. If you doubt it, recall the childish trash that made melodrama audience howl 20 or more years ago.

DRUNKENNESS AND AUTOS

Charged with drunkenness, a man in Newark, N. J., is brought before a magistrate. He is sentenced to report periodically at the police station to have his breath smelled, and the first whiff of firewater means a jail term.

Ontario, Canada, jails auto drivers who have the odor of liquor on their breath when halted by a constable. Henry Ford recently said that the American people can't have liquor back unless ready to give up their autos. The two don't go together. You can imagine the smashups if saloons were running wide open again, in view of the millions of cars now in use.

COMING

The foundation of five years of the greatest prosperity America has even seen is now being laid, says C. W. Barron, the Wall Street financial expert.

He gives several reasons, but overlooks the most important one: A nation is like an individual. During the war we exerted ourselves tremendously. Then, tired out, we loafed until we recuperated. That period of rest was what we called business depression. Now we're gradually getting back to top-speed work. Hard times are simply periods of national resting and recuperation.

INSTALLMENTS

An auto salesman tells us 35 per cent of cars are sold "on time"—the installment system, so much a month. Sounds exaggerated.

A convention of lumber dealers discusses selling materials for building homes on the same installment plan. This would solve the problem of second mortgages. But debt is debt, no matter where the money is borrowed, whether owed to a financial organization or a builder. The burden would merely be shifted from one shoulder to another.

EMERALDS

Leonard Rosenthal sells more pearls, diamonds and other precious stones than any other man in the world. He handles 300 million dollars worth of gems a year.

He passes the tip that emeralds are a good buy for investment purposes, because he believes that the emerald will eclipse the diamond and pearl as the fashionable stone in the next few years. Before buying, ponder whether Rosenthal is clairvoyant or merely desirous of stimulating the market for emeralds.

CHOCOLATE

Just 400 years ago Aztecs in Mexico were teaching white explorers from Europe the delights of chocolate, "the food of the gods." Spaniards took it back with them.

Prohibitionists of those days fought chocolate because, served as a drink, it cut down the use of alcohol. And if liquor came back in America, you'd find chocolate makers fighting it because prohibition has jumped the sales of chocolate and other candies. Chemically there are many "candy drunkards."

RUSSIAN EXPORTS

Russia announces she has exported one and a half billion pounds of wheat and other cereals, in a year. And the overhead charges of marketing these foodstuffs in other countries ate up three-fifths of the money paid by buyers. Ours is not the only country where the system of distribution is 200 years behind the times.

Russia's total exports in 1923 fiscal year were 105 million dollars, compared with 786 millions in 1913. A long way to go before getting back to normal.

MAD DRIVERS

Accused of endangering life by reckless driving, a man in Marlboro, Mass., is sentenced never to drive an auto again. If the same sort of justice were applied to all, at least one driver in 10 would have his car taken away from him.

The time is not far off when no one will be allowed to drive a car unless he passes tests for sanity, eyesight and caution. Many madmen drive cars, including ones temporarily crazed by liquor.

A DANGER TO THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

The course of national banks during the six months before Congress meets again will be interesting to watch. How many of them will resign their national charters and become state banks in order to enjoy the branch banking privileges which are denied them by the present banking laws?

Congressman McFadden, co-author of the McFadden-Pepper bill, recently declares that the failure of Congress to pass the bill means that the federal reserve system is in jeopardy. This is so because no banks except national banks are compelled to belong to the federal reserve system. If national banks continue to be handicapped by their inability to establish branch banks to compete with the branches maintained by state banks, a natural result will be a further decrease in the number of national banks and a consequent weakening of the stability of the federal reserve system.

The McFadden-Pepper bill contains two principal provisions:

First, no member of the federal reserve system, whether it be a state or national bank, is allowed to open new branches outside the city in which the home bank is situated. Inasmuch as most large state banks are members of the federal reserve system and wish to remain so, this provision would discourage the opening of branches outside the home cities of the banks concerned.

Second, if a national bank is situated within a state in which branch banking is allowed, the bank is permitted to operate branches within the corporate limits of the city in which it is situated, and its branches are permitted the same rights as the branches of the state banks. If the state should later enact legislation restricting the branch banking operations of state banks, the national bank would be subjected to the same restrictions.

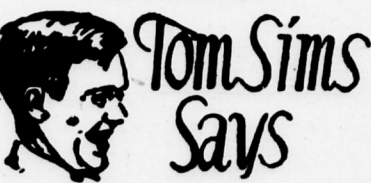

Thus it is evident that the bill would not give privileges to national banks but would remove some of the disadvantages under which national banks operate when competing with state banks and their branches. These handicaps are now so great that already, in large cities where state banks are allowed to have branches, many national banks have surrendered their charters.

As state banks, their membership in the federal reserve system is no longer compulsory. Thus the system loses that permanent element which is its principal asset. Some of the national banks which become state banks usually remain members of the federal reserve system; but with the increase of branch banking, a group of branch banks within a state might become more powerful than the federal reserve system within that state, as has happened in California. If this were the case throughout the country, the federal reserve system would be enormously weakened.

The federal reserve system is the foundation of our financial structure. It provides elastic currency. It supplies mobile credit. It prevents panics. It is generally agreed that, except for the federal reserve system, the world would have suffered a serious panic in 1921.

Few sound economists have any good word to say for branch banking. Regardless of what it has accomplished in certain countries, it is contrary to the whole American theory of the banking business. Destruction of the entire branch banking system, with equity to all involved, would be a happy consummation for the country.

But at present it is not feasible, and the best we can do is to enact the McFadden-Pepper bill, which would prevent state banks which are members of the federal reserve system from opening new branches outside their home cities, and would remove some of the disadvantages now suffered by national banks. This course is vital to the preservation of the federal reserve system.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Sleeping Sickness Is Increasing

London, June 21. (A. P.)—Sleeping sickness is rapidly increasing in this country, and 649 cases were notified by doctors in the first three weeks of April against 468 in March, 217 in February and 75 in January.

While investigations into the cause of the disease are being carried out by the Medical Research Council, doctors admit they do not know either a cure or any means of preventing the spread. Large towns appear to be more affected than rural districts and the disease seems to spread westward.

A medical officer of health says from one-fourth to one-half of the patients die, and not many of the remaining have, so far, completely recovered.

Young men and women are quitting the farms at the rate of about a million a year.

CONSCIOUS BREATHING

"Conscious breathing" was a term heard before.

"As long as there is air and a person's lungs are all right, he'll breathe—whether he's conscious of it or not," Mr. Jones reasoned.

Which is perfectly true. If it were not we'd all suffocate in our sleep.

But there's a proper way to breathe, and a lax man's way. The lazy man breathes enough air to keep him alive, and that's about all.

Then the doctor told Mr. Jones about the benefits of "conscious breathing."

"On your way to the car in the morning," said the doctor, "just fill your lungs to their capacity about a dozen times. Try long, quick breaths—gasps, so to speak. Exhale forcibly through the nostrils. Exercise your diaphragm."

"You'll be surprised how your chest expansion will increase if you cultivate this habit. Your circulation will improve and you'll feel like a new man."

"It's the easiest kind of exercise I know of—and one of the best."

Cal's Going Into Movies—Politically Speaking

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington, June 21.—A new national movie star is to be featured on the screen of American theaters this summer.

He's no handsome matinee idol. Neither is he a stalwart, dashing figure from the plains.

The role in which he will be cast is neither one of love nor of adventure. Instead, he will picture the part of a quiet, plodding, earnest, every-day sort of individual—the serious-minded, conscientious, un-dramatic life of the average American who recognizes that to live is to labor and who accepts the burdens of existence without protest, seeking to solve his own problems for himself, not asking that society solve them for him.

Perhaps you've already guessed his identity. Yes; this new star to be featured in the films is none other than Calvin Coolidge, the "calm and courageous candidate of the Cleveland convention."

Coolidge's campaign managers intend that every movie-goer in the United States shall feel a personal acquaintance with, and interest in, their candidate before election day next November.

They believe that his "New England face" and his "New England qualities" as they can be portrayed in the movies, will be a tremendous asset in assisting his election.

His very grimmess, his Puritanic severity of countenance, his taciturnity and his disregard of, if not his actual contempt for, the pleasures and the soft things of life, as they will be presented through the movies, are expected to kindle a feeling that he represents a return to the type of Americanism and ideals on which this nation was founded.

And this appeal, his backers believe, will be far more effective in winning support from the great mass of movie-going voters than any other sort of claim that can be made for any other candidate.

No such elaborate program of press-agenting ever was built up to popularize a theatrical star as is planned to "get across" the character of Coolidge.

The effort is to be to create a "Coolidge tradition," the effect of which will be to endow him, in the popular mind, with all the wisdom and virtues associated in the minds of Americans generally with the New England forefathers.

The opposition, naturally, expects to picture this "Coolidge tradition" as a "Coolidge myth," but they realize it will be one of the most difficult impressions to counteract.

This widespread and intensive picture-making of Coolidge was part of the consideration that entered into the permission given the four news reel movie concerns to set up Kleig lights and make movies of the proceedings inside the Republican national convention.

The old powers that were in the G. O. P. headed by John T. Adams and George Lockwood in the arrangements for the convention, frowned on the proposal to make movies of the convention show. It wouldn't be decorous and dignified, they held.

Working together, through a representative speaking for the four news reels—Fathes, Fox, Kinggrams, and International—the matter was put directly to the Coolidge management.

"Unless we get these pictures, we will not turn a crank in photographing Coolidge for the campaign," they threatened.

That threat was enough. Adams et al. were overruled. The pictures were made.

And from now on the Coolidge countenance is to be made a part of virtually every reel of "news" films issued until after next Nov. 4.

OTHER ANIMALS CAN'T DO IT

By Albert Apple

Fish in the underground rivers are blind. They don't need eyes. So nature took them away. Put the same fish in waters aboveground. They'd need eyes. And nature, after generations, would develop the eyes.

Life adapts itself to its environment. The giraffe's long neck was developed by craning and stretching to nibble the most tender leaves, at the tops of trees.

The rhinoceros developed its thick hide to protect itself from poisonous jungle snakes and insects.

It all comes by the extremely slow processes of evolution. But life—vegetable and animal—is constantly adapting itself to its environment.

Man, having intelligence, reverses this old revolutionary law that has prevailed for millions of years. Man's body still adapts itself to environment. But man also adapts his environment to fit himself.

Where the giraffe grew a long neck to get the leaves at the tops of trees, man if he couldn't climb would use a ladder. Instead of growing thick skin to protect ourselves against rattlesnakes, we wear heavy boots.

If environment doesn't please us, we change it. Instead of fleeing from the barren desert, we irrigate water into the desert and make it bloom.

Birds evolved from fish which, wanting to fly, developed their fins into wings. Man invents the airplane.

A few other forms of animal life have the power, though meager, to change their environments to suit themselves and their needs.

The beaver, for instance, instead of building underwater, makes a dam that backs up the water around a house constructed originally mostly on dry land.

But man has, to a phenomenal extent, the power to adapt his environment to himself instead of vice versa. We emphasize this power because it is the main reason why we should never yield to discouragement.

If you don't like your lot in life, you have the power to change it. Hard work and self-denial may be necessary, but every man within certain bounds is master of his own destiny.

Where he is limited in the matter of change, it is chiefly due to restrictions created by humanity at large. The race can have almost any kind of environment it wants—if it is willing to pay the price.

The Tangle

I confess, little Marquise, that my heart sank a bit, as Jack wondered what his mother would say about my bobbed hair. She is so hide-bound with traditions and conventions that I was sure she would be horrified.

For a moment I felt as though I had made a mistake. You see, I had tried so hard to make Jack's mother like me and I felt I had succeeded. At that instant I was afraid that I had undone all that I had taken me the whole three years of my married life to accomplish. I told myself being in fashion was not worth my family's displeasure.

But things never turn out just as you expect them.

When we opened the door, I found not only Mother Prescott in the living room but Priscilla Bradford. Mother Prescott seemed rather fussed, but she rose to the occasion.

"You know Priscilla Bradford," she said, as she came forward to kiss me. "She telegraphed me yesterday to ask me if she might come to see me and, of course, I answered with an invitation to call. However, I did not realize she was coming quite so soon or I would have asked her to wait until tomorrow, knowing that you would be in today, my dear."

Priscilla Bradford came forward slowly, almost hesitantly. She had removed her hat. Both Jack and I caught a good view of her simultaneously and with one accord we both burst into laughter.

"Mother Prescott looked much chagrined and rather unhappy and Priscilla Bradford surprised and indignant. Yet for the life of me, I could not stop laughing."

"Rain, rain go away, Come again some other day, Little Johnny wants to play," sang Johnny Jump Up, the little garden fairy, on the Twine window sill.

"What's the matter, what are you singing that for?" asked Nick, sitting up in bed and rubbing his eyes. "Because," said the little garden fairy, looking all funny and forlorn under his umbrella, "it's raining. There's no moon or anything and the magic garden is as wet as anything. The flowers are soaked and all of my playmates are in their little violet houses sound asleep and—"

"Goodness alive!" cried the titmouse flying down from his tree to the window sill beside Johnny. "I heard your whole conversation, and the way people fuss about a little bit of rain is the limit."

"Don't you mind it?" cried Johnny Jump Up in surprise.

"Humph! If we birds minded every little shower that came along we might just as well dry up and blow away," sniffed the little titmouse. "Of course I don't mind it."

"Hooray!" cried Johnny, turning a somersault right where he was, up brelle and all. "Then we can take our trip tonight after all, can't we?"

"Yes, certainly, if you have the tickets," said the titmouse. "I'll take you to Italy."

"I'll get them," said Johnny, and away he went.

He was back before you could say Jack Robinson, and all three got on the little bird's back, and holding the umbrella over them, they flew happily away.

There are about 9000 farm co-operatives in the United States.

Finally, however, I managed to calm myself enough to explain. "You see, Miss Bradford, I bobbed by own hair when I was in New York and Jack has been expostulating with me. As we drove up here from the station, among other things he seemed to think that mother would be horrified when she saw what I had done."

"From what he said I felt, Mother Prescott that you would think I had committed the unpardonable sin. Then we came in here to find you sitting with your old friend, Miss Bradford, who, evidently not content with a plain bob, has had her's shingled."

"Naturally, we both laughed; we couldn't help it."

At this Mother Prescott joined with us and even Priscilla Bradford gave a wry smile.

"I had just been telling dear Priscilla that I thought her hair was very becoming and that she looked 10 years younger. Take off your hat, Leslie, and let us see how you look."

Slowly I uncovered my short locks, and looked into the three faces before me.

Mother Prescott was unqualifyingly approving; Priscilla Bradford was slightly envious, for my bobbed head made me also look 10 years younger; and Jack—dear old Jack—at first looked hurt and then a smile curled up his lip as he came forward saying: "You're right, Leslie. You are more of a beauty than ever."

Little Marquise, it was an eventful homecoming, a rapturous welcome, almost a quarrel, nervous fear of disapprobation turned into joyous approval, and a knowledge that after all almost everything comes out right if you wait a little.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Rain, rain go away, Come again some other day, Little Johnny wants to play," sang Johnny Jump Up, the little garden fairy, on the Twine window sill.

"What's the matter, what are you singing that for?" asked Nick, sitting up in bed and rubbing his eyes. "Because," said the little garden fairy, looking all funny and forlorn under his umbrella, "it's raining. There's no moon or anything and the magic garden is as wet as anything. The flowers are soaked and all of my playmates are in their little violet houses sound asleep and—"

"Goodness alive!" cried the titmouse flying down from his tree to the window sill beside Johnny. "I heard your whole conversation, and the way people fuss about a little bit of rain is the limit."

"Don't you mind it?" cried Johnny Jump Up in surprise.

"Humph! If we birds minded every little shower that came along we might just as well dry up and blow away," sniffed the little titmouse. "Of course I don't mind it."

"Hooray!" cried Johnny, turning a somersault right where he was, up brelle and all. "Then we can take our trip tonight after all, can't we?"

"Yes, certainly, if you have the tickets," said the titmouse. "I'll take you to Italy."

"I'll get them," said Johnny, and away he went.

He was back before you could say Jack Robinson, and all three got on the little bird's back, and holding the umbrella over them, they flew happily away.

whisk and a whiz, they were flying over Italy, a country that looked like a huge boat sticking out into the ocean. By this time it was daylight and they could see everything.

"Oh, look at the mountain with smoke coming out of the top!" cried Nick.

"That is called a volcano. Every once in a while it boils over and melted rock pours out," explained Johnny Jump Up. "It's called Mount Vesuvius."

"I should not like to live near it," said Nancy.

"Oh, it doesn't do that very often," said Johnny, "and the rest of the country is so pretty it more than makes up for it. That fine city there is Naples. See how blue the ocean looks near it?"

Next they came to a beautiful lake with old gardens around it.

"Italian gardens are the most wonderful in the whole world," said Johnny Jump Up.

"Oh, look!" said Nick, as the titmouse flew on, "there is a city with streets of water. The people have boats instead of automobiles."

"That is, Venice," said Johnny Jump Up, who seemed to know everything. "The houses are built on tiny islands right in the sea."

"Many fine painters lived here once," he went on.

"I think that if I lived in Italy, I would paint, too," said Nancy.

"There are so many lovely things to paint."

"I never thought of that," said Johnny Jump Up.

"Suppose you think of going home now," said the titmouse. "Your tickets were good for both ways and I'm tired."

Hupmobile construction is an open book. Its details can be seen by one and all in our salesroom.

Here our Parts Display gives real quality-proof. And the quality you can see is decidedly exceptional for cars of Hupmobile class.

Ordinarily, when a man buys a car, he buys it more or less on faith. The parts that determine whether there is to be lasting satisfaction or quick dissatisfaction are hidden away in the chassis. They never see daylight until trouble comes. In the case of the Hupmobile, the facts are of a different sort. The buyer is perfectly safe if he goes no farther than Hupmobile repute. That tells him of a car which thousands believe to have no equal—at any price or in any class.

Buy your next car more intelligently. Come and see Our Parts Display—a liberal education in what makes real motor car value.

THAT TWO-THIRDS RULE
The forces of William Gibbs McAdoo, with the Democratic nomination ahead, are confronted by a stumbling block in the Democratic two-thirds rule. They find themselves in a most embarrassing position. For in going great lengths to have the rule changed to permit a majority of the delegates to nominate a candidate for the presidency, they are in danger of creating an uneasy feeling on the part of the delegates that here is a candidate who cannot command the unanimity necessary to insure the party of success. It always is bad strategy for a candidate to endeavor to alter procedure to win his own ends.

The Democratic two-thirds rule was made by one convention and might as well be changed by another convention. But if the impression goes out to the Democratic delegates that it is necessary to change the rule to permit Mr. McAdoo to become the candidate for the Presidency, it may not be changed—or another may be the beneficiary of it.

SHOWS OF TODAY
Theatrical producers think a man wants to go to a theater and check his brain with his hat, claims Vivian Kellems, lecturer.

Men, however, do not cut much of a figure in this problem. Theatrical productions usually depend for success or failure largely on women. Wives and sweethearts compose most of the matinee audiences, and men consult them for their choice of evening theatricals.

With the exception of sex plays, the standard of theatrical production is rising steadily. If you doubt it, recall the childish trash that made melodrama audience howl 20 or more years ago.

DRUNKENNESS AND AUTOS

Charged with drunkenness, a man in Newark, N. J., is brought before a magistrate. He is sentenced to report periodically at the police station to have his breath smelled, and the first whiff of firewater means a jail term.

Ontario, Canada, jails auto drivers who have the odor of liquor on their breath when halted by a constable. Henry Ford recently said that the American people can't leave liquor back unless ready to give up their autos. The two don't go together. You can imagine the smashups if saloons were running wide open again, in view of the millions of cars now in use.

COMING

The foundation of five years of the greatest prosperity America has even seen is now being laid, says C. W. Barron, the Wall Street financial expert.

He gives several reasons, but overlooks the most important one: A nation is like an individual. During the war we exerted ourselves tremendously. Then, tired out, we loafed until we recuperated. That period of rest was what we called business depression. Now we're gradually getting back to top-speed work. Hard times are simply periods of national resting and recuperation.

INSTALLMENTS

An auto salesman tells us 35 per cent of cars are sold "on time"—the installment system, so much a month. Sounds exaggerated.

A convention of lumber dealers discusses selling materials for building homes on the same installment plan. This would solve the problem of second mortgages. But debt is debt, no matter where the money is borrowed, whether owed to a financial organization or a builder. The burden would merely be shifted from one shoulder to another.

EMERALDS

Leonard Rosenthal sells more pearls, diamonds and other precious stones than any other man in the world. He handles 300 million dollars worth of gems a year.

He passes the tip that emeralds are a good buy for investment purposes, because he believes that the emerald will eclipse the diamond and pearl as the fashionable stone in the next few years. Before buying, ponder whether Rosenthal is clairvoyant or merely desirous of stimulating the market for emeralds.

CHOCOLATE

Just 400 years ago Aztecs in Mexico were teaching white explorers from Europe the delights of chocolate, "the food of the gods." Spaniards took it back with them.

Prohibitionists of those days fought chocolate because, served as a drink, it cut down the use of alcohol. And if liquor came back in America, you'd find chocolate makers fighting it because prohibition has jumped the sales of chocolate and other candies. Chemically there are many "candy drunkards."

RUSSIAN EXPORTS

Russia announces she has exported one and a half billion pounds of wheat and other cereals, in a year. And the overhead charges of marketing these foodstuffs in other countries ate up three-fifths of the money paid by buyers. Ours is not the only country where the system of distribution is 200 years behind the times.

Russia's total exports in 1923 fiscal year were 105 million dollars, compared with 786 millions in 1913. A long way to go before getting back to normal.

MAD DRIVERS

Accused of endangering life by reckless driving, a man in Marlboro, Mass., is sentenced never to drive an auto again. If the same sort of justice were applied to all, at least one driver in 10 would have his car taken away from him.

The time is not far off when no one will be allowed to drive a car unless he passes tests for sanity, eyesight and caution. Many madmen drive cars, including ones temporarily crazed by liquor.

A DANGER TO THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

The course of national banks during the six months before Congress meets again will be interesting to watch. How many of them will resign their national charters and become state banks in order to enjoy the branch banking privileges which are denied them by the present banking laws?

Congressman McFadden, co-author of the McFadden-Pepper bill, rightly declares that the failure of Congress to pass the bill means that the federal reserve system is in jeopardy. This is so because no banks except national banks are compelled to belong to the federal reserve system. If national banks continue to be handicapped by their inability to establish branch banks to compete with the branches maintained by state banks, a natural result will be a further decrease in the number of national banks and a consequent weakening of the stability of the federal reserve system.

The McFadden-Pepper bill contains two principal provisions:

First, no member of the federal reserve system, whether it be a state or national bank, is allowed to open new branches outside the city in which the home bank is situated. Inasmuch as most large state banks are members of the federal reserve system and wish to remain so, this provision would discourage the opening of branches outside the home cities of the banks concerned.

Second, if a national bank is situated within a state in which branch banking is allowed, the bank is permitted to operate branches within the corporate limits of the city in which it is situated, and its branches are permitted the same rights as the branches of the state banks. If the state should later enact legislation restricting the branch banking operations of state banks, the national bank would be subjected to the same restrictions.

It is evident that the bill would not give privileges to national banks but would remove some of the disadvantages under which national banks operate when competing with state banks and their branches. These handicaps are now so great that already, in large cities where state banks are allowed to have branches, many national banks have surrendered their charters.

As state banks, their membership in the federal reserve system is no longer compulsory. Thus the system loses that permanent character which is its principal asset. Inasmuch as most large state banks are members of the federal reserve system, a group of branch banks within a state might well become more powerful than the federal reserve system within that state, as has happened in California. If this were the case throughout the country, the federal reserve system would be enormously weakened.

The federal reserve system is the foundation of our financial structure. It provides elastic currency. It supplies mobile credit. It prevents panics. It is generally agreed that, except for the federal reserve system, the country would have suffered a serious panic in 1921.

Few sound economists have any good word to say for branch banking. Regardless of what it has accomplished in certain countries, it is contrary to the whole American theory of the banking business. Destruction of the entire branch banking system, with equity to all involved, would be a happy consummation for the country.

But at present it is not feasible; and the best we can do is to enact the McFadden-Pepper bill, which would prevent state banks which are members of the federal reserve system from opening new branches outside their home cities, and would remove some of the disadvantages now suffered by national banks. This course is vital to the preservation of the federal reserve system.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Sleeping Sickness Is Increasing

London, June 21. (A. P.)—Sleeping sickness is rapidly increasing in this country, and 649 cases were notified by doctors in the first three weeks of April against 468 in March, 217 in February and 75 in January.

While investigations into the cause of the disease are being carried out by the Medical Research Council, doctors admit they do not know either a cure or any means of preventing the spread. Large towns appear to be more affected than rural districts and the disease seems to spread westward.

A medical officer of health says from one-fourth to one-half of the patients die, and not many of the remaining have, so far, completely recovered.

Young men and women are quitting the farms at the rate of about a million a year.

FABLES ON HEALTH CONSCIOUS BREATHING

"Conscious breathing" was a term Mr. Jones of Anytown had never heard before.

"As long as there is air and a person's lungs are all right, he'll breathe—whether he's conscious of it or not," Mr. Jones reasoned. Which is perfectly true. If it were not we'd all suffocate in our sleep.

But there's a proper way to breathe, and a last man's way. The last man breathes enough air to keep him alive—and that's about all. Then the doctor told Mr. Jones about the benefits of "conscious breathing."

"On your way to the car in the morning," said the doctor, "just fill your lungs to their capacity about a dozen times. Try long, quick breaths—gasps, so to speak. Exhale forcibly through the nostrils. Exercise your diaphragm."

"You'll be surprised how your chest expansion will increase if you cultivate this habit. Your circulation will improve and you'll feel like a new man."

"It's the easiest kind of exercise I know of—and one of the best."

Cal's Going Into Movies—Politically Speaking

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington, June 21.—A new national movie star is to be featured on the screen of American theaters this summer.

He is no handsome matinee idol. Neither is he a stalwart, dashing figure from the plains. The role in which he will be cast is neither one of love nor of adventure. Instead, he will picture the part of a quiet, plodding, earnest, every-day sort of individual—the serious-minded, conscientious, un-dramatic life of the average American who recognizes that to live is to labor and who accepts the burdens of existence without protest, seeking to solve his own problems for himself, not asking that society solve them for him.

Perhaps you've already guessed his identity. Yes; this new star is to be featured in the films is none other than Calvin Coolidge, the "calm and courageous candidate of the Cleveland convention!"

Coolidge's campaign managers intend that every movie-goer in the United States shall feel a personal acquaintance with, and interest in, their candidate before election day next November.

They believe that his "New England face" and his "New England qualities" as they can be portrayed in the movies, will be a tremendous asset in assisting his election.

His very graminess, his Puritan severity of countenance, his taciturnity and his disregard of, if not his actual contempt for, the pleasures and the soft things of life, as they will be presented through the movies, are expected to kindle a feeling that he represents a return to the type of Americanism and ideals on which this nation was founded.

And this appeal, his backers believe, will be far more effective in winning support from the great mass of movie-going voters than any other sort of claim that can be made for any other candidate.

No such elaborate program of press-agenting ever was built up to popularize a theatrical star as is planned to "get across" the character of Coolidge.

The effort is to be to create a "Coolidge tradition," the effect of which will be to endow him, in the popular mind, with all the wisdom and virtues associated in the minds of Americans generally with the New England forefathers.

The opposition, naturally, expects to picture this "Coolidge myth," but they realize it will be one of the most difficult impressions to counteract.

This widespread and intensive picture-taking of Coolidge was part of the consideration that entered into the permission given the four news reels movie concerns to set up Kluge lights and make movies of the proceedings inside the Republican national convention.

The old powers that were in the G. O. P. headed by John T. Adams and George Lockwood in the arrangements for the convention, frowned on the proposal to make movies of the convention show. It wouldn't be decorous and dignified, they held.

Working together, through a representative agency for the four news reels—Pathé, Fox, Kinograms, and International—the matter was put directly to the Coolidge management.

"Unless we get these pictures, we will not turn a crank in photographing Coolidge for the campaign," they threatened.

That threat was enough. Adams et al. were overruled. The pictures were made.

And from now on the Coolidge countenance is to be made a part of virtually every reel of "news" films issued until after next Nov. 4.

CARPET STEALERS

Berlin, June 21.—Eighty-seven carpet robbers—members of a burglars' union—were arrested at a supper party in a Berlin restaurant recently. The supper had been given by the organizer of the union to celebrate a successful carpet-stealing season.

There are about 9000 firm co-operators in the United States.

OTHER ANIMALS CAN'T DO IT

By Albert Apple

Fish in the underground rivers are blind. They don't need eyes. So nature took them away. Put the same fish in waters aboveground. They'd need eyes. And nature, after generations, would develop the eyes.

Life adapts itself to its environment. The giraffe's long neck was developed by craning and stretching to nibble the most tender leaves, at the tops of trees.

The rhinoceros developed its thick hide to protect itself from poisonous jungle snakes and insects.

It all comes by the extremely slow processes of evolution. But life—vegetable and animal—is constantly adapting itself to its environment.

Man, having intelligence, reverses this old revolutionary law that has prevailed for millions of years. Man's body still adapts itself to environment. But man also adapts his environment to fit himself.

Where the giraffe grew a long neck to get the leaves at the tops of trees, man if he couldn't climb would use a ladder. Instead of growing thick skin to protect ourselves against rattlesnakes, we wear heavy boots.

If environment doesn't please us, we change it. Instead of fleeing from the barren desert, we irrigate water into the desert and make it bloom.

Birds evolved from fish which, wanting to fly, developed their fins into wings. Man invents the airplane.

A few other forms of animal life have the power, though meager, to change their environments to suit themselves and their needs.

The beaver, for instance, instead of building underwater, makes a dam that backs up the water around a house constructed, originally mostly on dry land.

But man has, to a phenomenal extent, the power to adapt his environment to himself instead of vice versa. We emphasize this power because it is the main reason why we should never yield to discouragement.

If you don't like your lot in life, you have the power to change it. Hard work and self-denial may be necessary, but every man within certain bounds is master of his own destiny.

Where he is limited in the matter of change, it is chiefly due to restrictions created by humanity at large. The race can have almost any kind of environment it wants—if it is willing to pay the price.

The Tangle

I confess, little Marquise, that my heart sank a bit, as Jack wondered what his mother would say about my bobbed hair. She is so hide-bound with traditions and conventions that I had made a mistake. You see, I had tried so hard to make Jack's mother like me and I felt I had succeeded. At that instant I was afraid that I had undone all that it had taken me the whole three years of my married life to accomplish. I told myself being in fashion was not worth my family's displeasure.

But things never turn out just as you expect them. When we opened the door, I found not only Mother Prescott in the living room but Priscilla Bradford. Mother Prescott seemed rather fussed, but she rose to the occasion.

"You know Priscilla Bradford," she said, as she came forward to kiss me. "She telegraphed me yesterday to ask me if she might come to see me and, of course, I answered with an invitation to call. However, I did not realize she was coming quite so soon or I would have asked her to wait until tomorrow, knowing that you would be in today, my dear."

Priscilla Bradford came forward slowly, almost hesitantly. She had removed her hat. Both Jack and I caught a good view of her simultaneously and with one accord we both burst into laughter.

Mother Prescott looked much chagrined and rather unhappy and Priscilla Bradford surprised and indignant. Yet for the life of me I could not stop laughing.

The effort is to be to create a "Coolidge tradition," the effect of which will be to endow him, in the popular mind, with all the wisdom and virtues associated in the minds of Americans generally with the New England forefathers.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS HARTON

"Rain, rain go away, Come again some other day, Little Johnny wants to play," sang Johnny Jump Up, the little garden fairy, on the Twink window sill.

"What's the matter, what are you singing that for?" asked Nick, sitting up in bed and rubbing his eyes. "Because," said the little garden fairy, looking all fussy and forlorn under his umbrella, "it's raining. There's no moon or anything and the moon garden is as wet as anything. The flowers are soaked and all of my playmates are in their little violet houses sound asleep."

"Goodness alive!" cried the titmouse flying down from his tree to the window sill beside Johnny. "I heard your whole conversation, and the way people fuss about a little bit of rain is the limit."

"Don't you mind it?" cried Johnny Jump Up in surprise.

"Hundred birds minded every little shower that came along we might just as well dry up and blow away," sniffed the little titmouse. "Of course I don't mind it."

"Hooty!" cried Johnny, turning a somersault right where he was, umbrella and all. "Then we can take our trip tonight after all, can't we?"

"Yes, certainly, if you have the tickets," said the titmouse. "I'll take you to Italy."

"I'll get them," said Johnny, and away he went.

He was back before you could say Jack Robinson, and all three got on the little bird's back, and holding the umbrellas over them, they flew happily away.

The rain soon stopped and with a whisk and a whiff, they were flying over Italy, a country that looked like a huge boot sticking out into the ocean. By this time was daylight and they could see everything.

"Oh, look at the mountain with smoke coming out of the top!" cried Nick.

"That is called a volcano. Every once in a while it boils over and melted rock pours out," explained Johnny Jump Up. "It's called Mount Vesuvius."

"I should not like to live near it," said Nancy.

"Oh, it doesn't do that very often," said Johnny, "and the rest of the country is so pretty it more than makes up for it. That fine city there is Naples. See how blue the ocean looks near it?"

Next they came to a beautiful lake with old gardens around it.

"Italian gardens are the most wonderful in the whole world," said Johnny Jump Up.

"Oh, look!" said Nick, as the titmouse flew on. "There is a city with streets of water. The people have boats instead of automobiles."

"That is Venice," said Johnny Jump Up, who seemed to know everything. "The houses are built on zinc islands right in the sea."

"Many fine painters lived here once," he went on.

"I think that if I lived in Italy, I would paint, too," said Nancy. "There are so many lovely things to paint."

"I never thought of that," said Johnny Jump Up.

"Suppose you think of going home now," said the titmouse. "Your tickets were good for both ways and I'm tired."

CHICAGO SOX PLAYER RISES TO TOP PLACE

Maurice Archdeacon Takes American League Batting
Lead From Heilmann

TY COBB GOES STRONG

Chicago, June 21. (By the A. P.)—The tumble of Harry Heilmann from the American league batting lead to fifth place, the climb of Maurice Archdeacon, Chicago outfielder to the leadership, and the continued slugging of Ty Cobb, furnished the outstanding developments of the major league batting race today.

Heilmann, who was out of the game for a few days due to an operation for sinus trouble, apparently has confined his efforts to sacrifice work. Archdeacon has an average of .375 for 31 games, during which he was at bat 104 times, scoring 24 runs, 34 hits and getting 14 total bases.

Cobb, who has played in 57 games, more than any of the leading hitters, is batting .364, and is the real leader. He is pressed by Jamieson, Cleveland, with an average of .363. Babe Ruth holds his own with .361, compared with .356 a week ago. Heilmann is next with .359, but he leads the league with sacrifices, having 14 to his credit. The figures include games of Wednesday.

Other leading hitters are: Meusel, New York, .355; Falk, Chicago, .352; Robertson, St. Louis, .352; Harris, Boston, .349; Sheely, Chicago, .346; Boone, Boston, .346; Sewell, Cleveland, .344; Goheen, Washington, .342; Prothro, Washington, .342; Williams, St. Louis, .351.

Ruth has sixteen homers and is leading both leagues, while Williams, St. Louis, is only 4 behind the champion slugger.

Collins, Chicago, and Williams, St. Louis are tied for the lead in stealing honors. Each having 10, with Jamieson, Cleveland, closing on them with nine.

Washington leads as the strongest club of hitters, averaging 301 in 53 games, with Cleveland tying the percentage with 53 games. Rogers Hornsby, St. Louis tops the National League hitters, averaging 394 in 52 games, Wheat, Brooklyn and Snyder, New York, are tied with .382. Kelly, New York with .381 and Fournier, Brooklyn .356 completes the leaders.

Other hitters in order are, Frisch, New York .343; Hugh, Brooklyn, .338; Grimes, Chicago, .336; Tierney, Boston, .335; Grantham, Chicago, .327; Young, New York .319; Pinielli, Cincinnati .317; Williams, Philadelphia, .316; Johnson, Brooklyn .314; Bancroft, Boston .304.

Fournier has 13 home runs with Harnett, Chicago, eight, Grigsby, Chicago leads in base thefts with 13, while Heathcote, Chicago, Carey of Pittsburgh and Bigbee, Pittsburgh, each have eleven.

New York, Chicago, and Brooklyn lead in team batting with respective averages of .304, .288 and .284. On defensive work Pittsburgh has an average of .375. Boston .372 and Philadelphia .368.

Willing under the fire of warm weather pitching, Neum of St. Paul, batting leader of the American Association, started to skid, but braced in the middle of the week, pulling up with an average of .416, compared with .432 a week ago. This gives him a safe lead over Brief of Kansas City, who is second with .391.

Dressen of St. Paul is third in the list with .376, while Maguire of Toledo is fourth with .368.

Neum, eager to increase his batting average, apparently neglected the art of base stealing, as he failed to increase his total of twenty-six. This, however, is sufficient to give him the lead by a wide margin.

In home run hitting, Russell of Columbus went into a tie with Smith of Louisville for the leadership with eight apiece, leaving Brief second with seven.

Other leading hitters: Shannon, Louisville, .358; Christenbury, Indianapolis, .352; Dixon, St. Paul, .350; Allen, Indianapolis, .350; Lemar, Toledo, .350; Betzel, Louisville, .342; McCarthy, Milwaukee, .332; Grimes, Columbus, .329.

All of the fireworks in the Western League were furnished by Outfielder Dunn of Wichita, who, in the last eight games smacked out 24 hits, swelling his batting average from .376 to .411. This moved him into second place, twenty points behind Cullop of Omaha. The roll call among the other leading hitters remains the same, with Tulsa having the four next sluggers to Cullop and Dunn. Austin is batting .396, Lamb, .389; Lelivelt, .388, and Davis, .383.

Davis and Washburn of Tulsa are still tied for the lead in home run hitting with fifteen, while Beck of Wichita added two, bringing his total to eleven.

Smith of Wichita apparently found the catchers too alert for he failed to add a single stolen base, although he still holds the lead with nineteen.

Other leading hitters: Luderus, Oklahoma City, .364; Robinson, Omaha, .360; Miller, St. Joseph, .356; Demaggio, St. Joseph, .343; Ginglardi, Denver, .341.

A general tightening up of the leading hitters of the Southern Association resulted in Knobe of Birmingham and Paschal of Atlanta being knocked down among the pace makers, all of whom suffered a loss in percentage and some in position.

Lapan of Little Rock still leads the procession but his average was shaved to .360, compared with .404 a week

SCREEN PROVIDES OPPORTUNITY FOR COLLEGE ATHLETES

By Jack Jungmeyer
NEA Service Writer

Hollywood, June 21.—Motion pictures have provided a lucrative field and definite goal for college sport leaders and athletes generally. The screen expanded the actor's stage from a few square yards to unlimited dimensions. It placed a higher valuation upon the actor's physical equipment. The expert swimmer, rider, runner, boxer had a decided edge over his mimetic competitor not thus cultivated.

Therefore, only the most limited professions had enabled an athlete to capitalize the time and hard discipline of school sports and gym training. Today, scratch a film actor and almost invariably you find an athlete. "Doublets," once required for most difficult stunts, are rapidly disappearing.

A talk with John Bowers, popular leading man, during a gym workout, brought up the subject. Bowers is credited with a first physique by several celebrated trainers.

"Athletics got me into pictures," he said, "and I believe they will pave the way for many young men to screen vantage. I had intended being a lawyer. In college I was a pretty good football player and was intensely interested in amateur sports. A manager happened to see some of my performances and on the strength of them persuaded me to a stage career."

"Since then, in pictures, I have never relinquished physical training, and it has proved highly valuable to me. The making of 'When a Man's a Man' is a good example of what an actor for the screen is often required to do. I was expected to ride like a cowboy. I had to take a difficult fall from a horse. I had to build a steer. Without my previous rigorous training I'm sure I would have been a total loss."

"At one time or another I have wrestled in training with most of the best mat men of this generation. So in the case of the steer, I decided that what would be apt to get Frank Gotch's legs from under him ought to work equally well with the beef. It did."

"In another scene I had to make a dive with the villain for a knife he had thrown at me. If I hadn't learned to slide bases in baseball I probably should have had a wrecked shoulder."

"So all through the picture I found my athletic culture serving me well. I kept saying to myself, 'Well, old boy, here is where your rowing ago. Smith of Atlanta is second with .374, and Carlisle of Memphis third with .363.

Anderson of Chattanooga and Lebourveau of Nashville were the long distance hitters of the week, the former clouting out his ninth home run, while the Nashville slugger added a pair, bringing his total to seven. Paschal, however, is leading the field with ten.

Mariott of Mobile, swelled his total of stolen bases to 23, giving him a lead of four over Stewart of Birmingham.

Other leading hitters: Taylor, Memphis, .356; Barrus, Atlanta, .354; Knobe, Birmingham, .349; Paschal, Atlanta, .349; Barber, Little Rock, .348; Yaryan, Memphis, .348.

comes in handy; here is where the years of potty work will help; here is where the old medicine ball heaving will serve you well."

Applicants cards in Hollywood film cabinets lay almost as much stress on a man's physical powers as upon his presumed acting ability. That's something to bear in mind for those seeking a film career.

There are few movie men of any standing who are not ready and capable to undertake strenuous and often hazardous exploits. Mere dandies or weaklings are simply out of luck among this new breed of active actors.

QUESTIONS

1. Is there any limit as to the number of players who may take part in retiring a base runner caught between the bases?—B. H.
2. Ground rule is one base on overthrow into the crowd. Batsman is hit by pitched ball, same being deflected into crowd. There is a runner on second. Is he entitled to advance to third?—B. H.
3. Can a pitcher, after he has started his regular motion to deliver the ball to the batter, quickly curtail motion and snap the ball to an occupied base in an effort to catch a base runner?—B. H.

ANSWERS

1. There is no limit as to the number of players who can take part in running down a player between the lines.
2. The moment the batsman is hit by a pitched ball, play is suspended. No consideration is given the fact that the ball is deflected into the crowd. Runner on second simply remains there, batsman going to first.
3. Pitcher makes a balk. When the pitcher starts his delivery to the batsman he must complete it or have a balk called on him.

TWO INJURED IN CAR SPILL

Mandan Men Suffer Undetermined Injuries When Car Upsets 4 Miles East

Joseph Shaner and L. C. Loveland, both of Mandan, were brought to the Bismarck hospital today at noon, with injuries sustained when the Ford car in which they were riding turned over twice on a road about four miles east of Bismarck.

Mr. Shaner, who was driving, suffered a badly lacerated hand, and other cuts, but otherwise is not believed to be in a serious condition. Until an X-ray can be made, it is impossible to ascertain the extent of Mr. Loveland's injuries, who suffered body bruises, and who seems to be having difficulty in breathing.

The manner of the accident is not known, as the men, who were brought into town by a Mr. Welch, were unable to give details of the happening. It is thought that Mr. Shaner drove too near the side of the road, and that the turnover resulted. Though it is believed there were four in the car, the men were unable to give any information concerning the other two occupants.

Mr. Loveland's wife and daughter who are visiting in the East, have been sent for, and his mother and brother, W. R. Loveland are with him here.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Prefer—

for Economical Transportation

- 1 Chevrolet is modern in appearance. All models are of streamline design, and fine, durable finish. Closed models have genuine Fisher Bodies.
- 2 Chevrolet is modern in construction. It has standard sliding gear transmission, Remy electrical equipment, modern cooling system, suction fuel feed with tank at rear, demountable rim, safe steering mechanism—in fact all essential engineering improvements found in the highest priced cars.
- 3 Chevrolet is fully equipped as sold. We quote prices on complete cars only. Chevrolet is all there, ready for use as soon as you put on your license plates. Compare the fully equipped Chevrolet with other cars, plus their missing equipment, and satisfy yourself which costs least.
- 4 Chevrolet transportation averages less cost per mile than that of any other car at any price. This cost includes the list price of car, insurance, operation, maintenance, annual depreciation and interest on your investment. Why pay more per mile for lower quality?
- 5 Chevrolet has the most powerful motor of any low priced car. Its supremacy for hill climbing and hard going is well known. Where there are most hills there are most Chevrolets. Why drive a slow car and hold up the line when it costs less to be a leader?
- 6 Chevrolet yields solid comfort in riding. This is due to its long wheel base, correct body suspension on extra strong and resilient vanadium steel springs, well-sprung and padded upholstery, deep seats with ample leg room, and correctly inclined backs. The double ventilating windshield and cool motor make driving a pleasure instead of a discomfort.

7 Chevrolet service costs are low because so few hours per year are needed in service stations. Chevrolets are built to stay together, and do not require you to be always near a service station. When adjustments or repairs are needed the Chevrolet Flat Rate System keeps the cost down to the minimum.

8 Chevrolet is a quality car. You are proud to tell of your ownership of a Chevrolet. Your Chevrolet tells the world that you appreciate modern quality and are a good judge of values.

9 Chevrolet is built for safety. It steers firmly and easily and the steering gear will not lock itself. It holds to the road even at high speed on gravel. Its braking power is ample. It is easy to handle and accelerates so quickly it enables you to get out of a bad position promptly. It is one of the few cars granted Class A rating by insurance underwriters.

10 Chevrolet is easy to buy and easy to trade. In buying a home, you always consider what you could get for it if you ever wanted to move. Be sure the car you buy has a good trade-in value, so that when the time arrives to get a new one, you can make a good deal. Chevrolet's trade-in value is high because of the big demand for this well-built, long-lived automobile.
